WORK ON PIPE LINES

PUBLIC SERVICE MANAGER TELLS OF IMPROVEMENTS IN WATER SERVICE

Gradually, systematically and thoroughly the city's water service system is being co-ordinated and improved. It is no slight task this standardizing of the old companies' pipe lines and joining up the various mains on a systematic plan. Harry B. Lynch, manager of the public service department, said to a representative of The Glendale Evening News. "The work of installing the new water pipes is proceeding as rapidly as is consistent with thorough equipment. The lights on Brand boulevard, from Colorado boulevard to the southern limits of the city are now in operation. The lights have been ordered in on North Brand from First street to the northern limits of the city.

"We are putting in an 8-inch cast-iron pipe line on Pacific avenue where there is urgent call for fire protection. A double 6-inch hydrant is also being installed at every block on Pacific avenue. This district has been without proper fire protection up to this time.

"Within a few days we will be running an 8-inch cast iron pipe line on Pacific avenue to Colorado; also on Columbus from Broadway almost to Second. It will not be many days before a 4-inch cast iron pipe line will be installed on Ivy street.

"As far as possible the department is putting in the pipe line and all service before new streets are constructed; on vacant lots as well as on those occupied. By thus laying pipe, etc., ahead of paving much unnecessary work is avoided. All pipe thus installed is laid three feet deep to the surface of the pipe.

"Men from the department are now setting in several hydrants in the north end of the city. This is merely a temporary service, however, as there will have to be a completely new installation after the big main goes through. The residents in that quarter were insistent in their demands for protection from fire and the department did not feel that it was safe to leave that end of the city entirely without protection. The installation will serve, however, until the completion of the service sometime next year.

"Quite a large number of old meters have been taken out since last report and new meters have been installed. This is giving much satisfaction throughout the city."

A journey of inspection made in the company of Mr. Lynch, by a representative of The Glendale Evening News, showed the satisfactory nature of the work being done. The large 8-inch cast-iron pipe that is being laid on the streets mentioned above is probably the first laid in this district. It is the most satisfactory kind of pipe that can be laid. Its life is at the least 100 years. Pipe of this character has been known to last 240 years. Water conditions both inside and outside the pipe are the very best; soil conditions are also highly favorable.

Before this heavy construction was begun the district now being equipped with the new service had no other protection than a small 2-inch pipe. With the new service the fire protection is as good as in the city. All along the improvements can be noted the thorough manner in which the district is served. The new hydrants are placed at definite spots on each street, five feet out from the curb and are equipped with a shut-off valve between them and the pipe line. It is thus possible to locate the hydrants at once in case of fire and also to shut off the water in case of repairs. The joints of the pipe line are secured with cement instead of with lead as hereofore. This has been found to be just as effective and lasting and saves the city at least $1000.

A a recent meeting of the board of trustees it was resolved to call an election for the purpose of allowing residents of a strip of land leading from the westerly city boundary, near the Glendale laundry to the Brand pumping plant, to vote on the annexation of that strip to the city of Glendale. The pumping plant has already been acquired by the city, and it was thought desirable that it should be within the city limits. It will be necessary, however, to hold another election in Glendale to say if the strip should be taken in.

Bit by bit the public service department is getting the water service into shape and when some of the present water reservoirs can be supplemented by others higher up the fire protection will be as good as anywhere in the district.

Which is the more important, today or tomorrow? Today is important as the opportune time to do work at hand and tomorrow is the time left to perform the work left undone today.

LEAR N OF PATRIOTISM

CHILDREN'S HOUR AT LIBRARY OFFERED A VARIED ENTERTAINMENT

It will be with deep regret that the children who have enjoyed the library entertainments and instruction classes, Wednesday mornings, find that those delightful sessions are almost at an end. The popularity of the class can be seen in the fact that the attendance is growing greater now than when it was first opened. Mrs. Danford and those who have assisted her reserve great credit for the work they have accomplished.

Wednesday was patriotic day. The lecture began with the famous story of the origin of "The Star Spangled Banner," which thrills the heart no matter how often heard. The children learned how in 1814 while what is known as the "War of 1812" was still dragging on, a British fleet made an attack on Fort McHenry, one of the defenses of Baltimore; how Francis Scott Key, who had gone out to the British admiral to bring back an American who was to be released by the British arrived just as the bombardment began and was compelled to lie all night in his sloop moored by the British flagship. How Key watched all night with his companion as the bombs fell on the fort, praying for morning and hoping the fort would hold out, and how when he saw the stars and stripes still flying when morning dawned, the inspiration came to him that enabled him to write "The Star Spangled Banner."

Then came the famous story of Lincoln and the mother who had three sons in the war. The poor mother was a widow and she went to Lincoln to beg him to relieve one of them from duty that he might help her to keep the family home. Lincoln consented; but the oldest son was found to be lying wounded in the hospital where he soon died. In a most affecting interview Lincoln consented to give the widow back the second son, while the third remained in the ranks to fight. "You have one now," he said, "and I have one." The power of a mother's love and the love of country were beautifully brought out by this story.

The third story brought the now absorbed little listeners back to the wars of the Roses in England in the reign of Henry VI, when, after the battle of Hexham, Queen Margaret and her son were compelled to flee. Seeking refuge in a wood the queen fell into the hands of robbers who would have despoiled her of all she possessed and would have killed herself and her son, had it not been for the aid given her by one of the outlaws, with whom the mother pleaded.

After the stories Mrs. Danford took the children to the regular bookshelves and taught them the use of the library as a means of reference in connection with their school lessons. She also pointed out the new set of books on "Vocations" showing them how information of a practical kind on any subject could be found.

Miss Georgia Rhea played two selections on the violin, Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Gustav Lange's "Blumenlied," which afforded the children much pleasure.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador at Washington, had a conference with Secretary Lansing for half an hour today. GERMANS CAPTURE BREST-LITOVSK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—It is officially announced today that the Germans have captured Brest-Litovsk, the main fortress base of the Russian field armies. After the Teutonic armies had stormed the outer fortification on two sides and penetrated the inner works, the garrison surrendered. In the first report issued by the war office it was not stated how many laid down their arms. This capture will make imperative the abandonment of the entire line between that city and Kovno.

ANOTHER TWO THOUSAND MINERS WALK OUT

WELSH COAL WORKERS COMPLAIN THAT OPERATORS WILL NOT LIVE UP TO THE AGREEMENT ARRANGED BY LLOYD-GEORGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CARDIFF, Wales, Aug. 26.—Just after 1000 striking coal miners had resumed work today, expecting that Lloyd-George, the British minister of munitions, would arbitrate the dispute with the operators, 2000 miners and the employees of all the collieries in a new section of the coal fields in this district walked out. The strikers declared that the operators were not living up to the agreement under which they returned to work after the last big strike.

DIAMOND TO SCREEN

E. H. MOHLER, FORMER MANAGER OF SEALS, OPENS THEATER TONIGHT

In these days "movies" touch life at almost every point and it is no news to hear that some expert in his own line has joined the knights of the screen and the film. They all do it—clergymen, doctors, bankers, salvation army lassies and society women. It is not wonderful, therefore to find Kid Mohler, as he was known in the days when he was manager of the Seals and the quickest second baseman on the Pacific coast suddenly jumping into the moving picture theater business and opening a house in Glendale.

E. H. Mohler had his house, the Glendale theater, corner of Isabel and Broadway, in good shape for the opening and had a good attendance last night. With his customary energy Mr. Mohler started in to renovate his house and set in order. This has been done thoroughly and the Glendale theater is now an attractive, sanitary and well-lighted house that is certain to attract large audiences.

"I have worked hard," said Mr. Mohler to a representative of The Glendale Evening News, "to make this theater a success. You can see for yourself the improvements in the place since I took it in hand.

"Our pictures will all be such as will commend themselves to refined tasts and will contain also the comic element so popular with all classes. The ever-welcome productions of the Mutual and Keystone companies will be varied with the latest serials and I hope to make this show one of the best in this neighborhood."

CONTEST WORKERS

The Glendale Evening News and Tri-City Progress contest workers have only eight days in which to complete their work. The time is at hand when it becomes necessary for friends of the contestants to render all possible assistance.

Although many new names have been added to the list, yet there are many residents of Glendale who have not been even asked to become subscribers.

The contestants working single-handed cannot possibly have time to call personally on all the people likely to become subscribers. Every contestant should have at least the assistance of a dozen workers. It means something to become the owner of a new Maxwell touring car, a Schiller piano or any of the other prizes.

If organized subscription getting is delayed by friends of the contestants until the last two or three days of the contest, the time will then be too short to do satisfactory work. The contestants' friends who organize for systematic work today and continue diligently at work until the close are the ones who will have the pleasure of rejoicing with their winner. Steady work every day is what will count when it comes to counting the votes.

The position of the contestants at 1:30 today is:

TO SELL SCHOOL LANDS

School lands aggregating 237,747 acres in San Bernardino county will soon be sold in accordance with the act of the last legislature. In the entire state the total acreage to be sold amounts to 608,628. Nine counties—Orange, San Joaquin, Sutter, San Mateo, Kings, Contra Costa, Sacramento, Marin and San Francisco—have no vacant school lands. Imperial has 24,649 acres, Los Angeles 531, Riverside 20,738. San Luis Obispo 3647, Santa Barbara 129 and Ventura 80.

It is not the man who travels the most that sees the most. Many men travel with their eyes closed.

WANTS SINGLE TAX

DR. CLARENCE WEBB CONTRIBUTES ARTICLE ON LAND SPECULATION

Editor The Glendale Evening News:

Blame it on the democrats. Blame it on the European war. Blame it on the old theory that we must have a depression every ten to twenty years, and still you haven't said anything. The democrats would not have been elected if things had not been going from bad to worse. It couldn't have been the war because the depression was beautifully started before the war began. The depression due every so often must have a general cause or it wouldn't occur. If that cause were removed, we would miss our familiar depressions.

Now every depression exhibits some individual characteristic and the superficial observer jumps to the conclusion that each one has a different cause. The panic of 1873 pointed to the coinage of silver. The panic of 1893 was Grover Cleveland's fault. The depression of 1913 is now laid to free trade, Woodrow Wilson and the war. Now is prosperity really so tender a hothouse plant that making democratic faces at it bluffs it off the face of the earth? And if so, why do the people at intervals of 20 years forget the patent fact and allow the naughty democrats to make those dangerous faces?

Come now don't be silly. If standpatters really held a monopoly on wisdom so completely that none others need try to run the governmental machine, wouldn't they keep the machine running well enough that the uninitiated would have no show? They don't hire green hands to run locomotives, do they? Then why don't we always hire republicans to run the government? Because they run successfully when the conditions are favorable and when the conditions turn unfavorable the republicans are repudiated and the poor democrat gets the offices in time to also get the blame for the depression.

To any voter with brains then it is plain that panics are not caused by democrats, because democrats seldom get into office until a panic is already well under way. And the war came along after the present depression was in full swing. Hence we must look elsewhere for causes.

In the past what happened after any regular depression? Why everybody looks around to start something. Prices of property are usually reasonable at such times because there has been no market for some years and many people are tired of holding property without profit. Industries have been quiet and the warehouses are comparatively empty. There is some demand for products but money is still scarce; but business is picking up a little and in five or ten years of gradual improvement times get brisk, everybody is active, looks like good times. The land is boomed. Buy a lot or a farm, hold it a year or two and sell it at a big profit. Soon this pays better than investing in industries. Speculating pays better than working. A large element in society becomes land gamblers. This so stimulates competition for land that prices reach a point where it does not pay to use the land and the production falls off; cost of living increases; incomes decrease, the land boom bursts and we have our depression.

This has been the history of each cycle of about twenty years' duration in our history. In each case the real cause has been the same even though the immediate symptoms varied some what. For what difference would it make whether the straw which broke the camel's back was green or yellow. It was not the color of that straw nor even that particular straw itself but the whole load that became unbearable and now we have political doctors who blame our great panic on that poor helpless democratic straw in spite of the fact that the great panic of 1873 came and went without democrats.

Great depressions are not produced by small causes. The cause must be somewhat commensurate with the effect. Nothing but a powerful and persistent gnawing at our public vitals has been shown capable of such universal and complete paralysis on our industries but that one explanation that land speculation drives the prices and the rents of the sources of production so high that industry becomes unprofitable and a panic is upon us.

This then is the diagnosis of the case until a better one is forthcoming. If this one is correct there is but one solution open to us and that one is obvious. We must make land speculation unprofitable and the single tax is the only just remedy.

CLARENCE A. WEBB,
1450 Lomita Avenue.

PROGRESS OF THE GREAT WAR

There is no doubt that the war in Europe is passing through one of its most critical stages. Germany, with its magnificent organization and supply system for munitions, has caught Russia unprepared and is simply smashing the czar's troops all over Russian Poland at will. With much good generalship and a great deal of hard fighting, the Russians, who are valiant fighters of a losing game and are never more formidable than when in retreat, are retiring on Russia proper, making the Germans pay dearly for every step they take in advance.

It looks as though the kaiser's general staff had determined not only to clear the Russian forces out of Russian Poland, but also to cripple them so severely that they will not be able to get into the war as a formidable factor for nearly a year to come. That is what the kaiser and his advisers propose; what may happen is just as likely to be something different.

There are indications that Japan, moved by representations from England, is going to lend aid to Russia by increasing the supplies of ammunition that she has been sending to that country. There have not been lacking hints that Japan, willing to see Russia badly crippled by Germany, and to that end withholding its promised supplies of munitions, having accomplished that purpose, is now willing to see Russia cripple Germany. The wily Jap is one power that will come out stronger from this struggle than any other.

Operations in the West are practically at a standstill, with occasional attacks by Germans on the French lines and by British on the Germans and Germans on British; but with no gain worth noting on either side. The Germans have been strengthening and fortifying Zeebrugge, a seaport and naval station, and the allies have been bombarding it from sea and air without much effect.

Italy has been pounding away at the Austrian lines on the way to Trieste, but is finding the natural and artificial barriers on the way much more difficult of negotiation than was expected. This has probably determined the Italian government to get into the war with Turkey and the next news will probably be that Italian forces are fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula; or if Bulgaria should prove amenable to the allies' arguments, they may be marching with Bulgaria against Turkey.

It is difficult to get any proper angle of vision on what is happening in the region of the Dardanelles. The allies there seem to have missed their chance and to have delayed until it is a matter of great difficulty to force their way to Constantinople. Had they forced the straits at first, even at the cost of a few battleships, it is probable that they could have carried out their plans, but they have given time to the Turks, under the able leadership of the Germans, to fortify and entrench until the whole land approach to Constantinople is bristling with trenches. The situation seems to hinge on Bulgaria and that is why every leading power in Europe is lobbying there with argument and with hard cash.

There remains only the situation in the Baltic to dispose of. The recent naval battle in the Gulf of Riga has undoubtedly been a setback to the plans of the Germans, but until more definite details of the encounter arrive it will not be possible to say how significant that affair has been. That British submarines have been able to make their way to the assistance of the Russians appears to be true. How many are there is not likely to be learned, but the mere fact of their presence in that quarter must have a deterrent effect on Field-Marshal von Hindenburg's plans.

It is likely that the sinking of the Arabic will be cleared up in some fashion. There will be two sides to the story in the hope of keeping the United States out of the war.

STANDARDIZATION OF ACCOUNTS

One of the country's great economists once said: "The ability to forecast results by the use of accounts and statistics is one of the great achievements of man." Standardization of accounts as a basis of comparison between different businesses and for statistical purposes is absolutely necessary if a man is to win the greatest measure of success. He must know the current details of his business and at the same time study his own past records and those of his neighbors.

What a serious matter ignorance of statistics may be was some time ago shown by the fact that speculators were able to make large fortunes in wheat at the expense of the farmer and the consumer. Then David Lubin set out to find the reasons for fluctuations in wheat prices. Lubin found that the principal reason was that a few manipulators were able to juggle the price wherever they pleased because neither producers nor consumers knew actual conditions.

Now, thanks to Lubin, the country has the International Institute of Agriculture with its equalizing influence on market conditions. Business men must now keep records of their business in such a way as to know the source of their profits and losses and be able to compare the results with those of former years and with those also of other business men as a basis for future plans.

One need only stand at the docks of San Francisco and see the magnificent trans-Pacific boats, like the Chiyo Maru of the Japanese Steamship company, moving with almost conscious power to their wharves, to see how skilfully the Nipponese have planned to take the trade of the Pacific. Already they monopolize most of it. Now that the American company has gone out of business and the Japs have acquired the last of that company's big boats, the Pacific Mail liner, Persia, the flag of the Rising Sun has scarce a rival on the ocean Balboa discovered.

San Francisco newspapers are discussing Abe Ruef as though he were still a factor in that city's politics. Ruef never was anything more than a cunning little Jew criminal from the slums and the sooner he is dropped out of sight the better.

The man who thinks he is down and out in the world is in a miserable condition. He gets no enjoyment out of life himself and he is also a menace to those whom he should consider his friends.

GIRLS' SLUMBER PARTY

If you ever have the good luck to be invited to a "slumber party" by a certain alert coterie of young Glendale ladies you will find that the first requisite for being an acceptable guest is the faculty of keeping wide-awake all night. That is about all that can be gathered from hints that have been given concerning the mysteries of an original affair that took place Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Marcella Orth, 435 South Central avenue. Miss Orth was entertaining on that occasion in honor of Miss Helen Powell of Corona.

Beginning the evening with a theater party at the Palace Grand, the hostess and her guests adjourned to the Society Shop, under the chaperonage of Mrs. J. H. Orth and then returned to the Orth home, where music made their hearts merry and dancing set every pulse throbbing. Much fun and merriment were caused by a mock marriage ceremony. After the ceremonial a dainty supper was served.

By this the chimes of midnight had long been past and the light of a new day was struggling in the East. It then became manifest that this affair was called a "slumber party" on the old Latin principle, "lucus a non lucendo," because sleep was impossible. A "break o' dawn" breakfast was served, after which the young ladies, no longer afraid to go home in the dark, betook themselves to their various residences, with lavish ecomiums on the enjoyability of their hostess' unique party. Those who saw the night through were the Misses Ada Stoneham, Eva Gould, Elmar Cawood, Willamae Hobbs, Helen Powell, Sara Stoneham, Hettie Orth, Helen Gould, Mildred Singleton, Anabel McClellan, Lucille Haddix, Marjorie Singleton and the hostess, Marcella Orth.

LA CANADA

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Knight of Haskell street are spending a couple of days in Parris, where Mr. Knight owns several acres of land.

Miss Dorothy Lester was the guest of Miss Bernice Twambly of Pasadena one evening last week; also other guests from Pasadena were present.

Anderson & Green, Ford agents for the La Canada valley, are expecting the new 1916 Fords near the first of September. Those who have been anxious for new cars need wait only a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Green returned Tuesday from an eleven days' trip to and in San Francisco. The trip was made in a machine. They went up the inland route and down by the coast route. Coming back the roads were exceedingly rough and hilly. Anyone who expects to take the coast road to San Francisco, let them first have a talk with Max Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Selleck of San Francisco, who are planning to move into our valley this week, were the guests of D. J. Green and family Sunday. Mr. Selleck intends to rent the Van Degrift home for two or three months until a house of his own can be erected on the Sturdevant olive orchard on the corner of School and Green streets. La Canada extends a hearty welcome to these people, who we hope will love our valley as one of us.

Mr. and Mrs. Ackleson of Indiana street are spending this week at the San Diego fair.

Misses Gladys Granger, Henrietta Horne, Katherine Hegeman, Aldine Norton and Katheryne Green spent a delightful day Thursday swimming, playing tennis and laying on a coat of tan at Brookside park, Pasadena.

Miss Marjorie Bently of Pasadena, formerly one of the La Canada Christian Endeavorers, entertained several of her friends from La Canada and Pasadena last Friday night.

Mr. Bradford of Center street, who has been very ill recently, underwent an operation at the Pasadena hospital last week and is now at his home and slowly improving.

J. H. Nicholson has commenced improving the grounds on his recent purchase on Craig avenue, preparatory to setting out shrubbery and trees. He will build sometime in the near future.

The district meeting which was announced in this paper for last Saturday was a mistake. It will be held this Saturday, August 28, at the schoolhouse. All are asked to be present if possible as this is the most important district meeting held as yet this year.

The Rev. Mr. Morris of the First Congregational church of North Pasadena filled our pulpit last Sunday on account of the absence of our pastor, Dr. Scott.

Mr. Joe Giodarina, a Los Angeles fruit dealer, who was transacting business with Mr. Granger on Monday, suffered a severe accident on his way back to Los Angeles. Mr. Giodarina was accompanied by his son. The bridle of the horse they were driving gave away while they were going down hill. The horse ran, threw both occupants of the buggy into a ditch, and Mr. Giodarina was unconscious for a few minutes, but recovered under the care of people who saw the accident.

AUG. 26, 1914—A YEAR AGO

One year ago today the Germans had high hopes of capturing Paris, and believed the war would be ended in a few months. Belgium had not yet fallen entirely into the kaiser's hands and Italy was persuaded that she could avoid being drawn into the war.

There was hard fighting at Lisle and reports said that the city had fallen. The reports, however, were denied. The French authorities decided to make Paris an entrenched camp.

French offensive movement between Vosges and Nancy continues fifth day. Losses of Germans reported very heavy.

German attacks on Meuse are repulsed with great vigor by French, but attack by British on superior force fails.

Russian forces in field reported to be 8,000,000 and attack on Berlin believed possible.

German steamship Wilhelm der Grosse sunk by British cruiser High Flyer.

Austria announces victory over the Russians near Krasnik after three days' battle, five Russian corps, spread over fifty miles being defeated and compelled to flee toward Lublin.

ON LOCAL DIAMONDS

Winning a close game from Tropico, 7-4, the high school playground second team showed that it possesses good material. Both teams are composed of players under twenty years. Verdugo brothers' battery for the high school got nine strrike-outs and allowed only one safe hit. Scores that were made were the result of errors and bases on balls. The Tropico battery (Morgan and Gabbage) got six strike-outs and allowed eight hits. These hits, combined with several errors, let in seven scores. Terry, Brown and Powers, three players borrowed from the junior league teams, made some star plays for the high school.

Apparently brought out by the liberal notices recently given these games in the Glendale Evening News, a large crowd witnessed the contest. The return game will be played on the Tropico diamond Monday, Aug. 30th, at 9:30 a. m. The following players are requested to be present: L. Verdugo, p; T. Verdugo, c; Padelford, 1b; West, 2b; Brown, 3b; Terry ss; Crandall, lf; Powers, rf; Balthis, cf; Davis and Fansett, utility.

Following is the line-up of what is now known as the Glendale team: Bradford, c; Marple,p; Baker, 1b; Gabbage, 2b; Bidwell, 3b; Morse, lf; Coole, cf; Padelford, rf; J. Dewar, substitute catcher; B. Dewar, substitute pitcher, and Budway, sub. Capt. Morse has arranged the above line-up, subject to change, for next Saturday's game against the Santa Fe league team. This game promises to be even a better game than that played last Saturday. A hat collection will be taken.

FAREWELL PARTY

At the home of Mrs. Charles S. Foss, 131 Elrose avenue, a delightful farewell party was given Monday, in honor of Miss Carrie Cole and Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Spiva of Joplin, Mo. The house was beautifully decorated with pink carnations and asparagus plumosas. Five hundred was the game of the evening. The ladies' prize was won by Miss Cole; the gentlemen's prize by Mr. Hill. Mr. Fred Fishel captured the consolation prize to his own great delight and that of the guests.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Edith Foss. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. G. N. The cat was unusually large and fierce, weighing about twenty-five pounds and took nearly the entirely forenoon to conquer. They brought him home alive and will have him killed and either mounted or the hide dressed as a rug.

The Sunday school class of Miss Mary Kocher gave her a most delightful surprise, Tuesday night in honor of her birthday at her home on Olive avenue. About twenty-four young people were present and the usual festivities enjoyed. Miss Mary was the recipient of a handsome cold meat fork and several other nice souvenirs of the occasion.

The Ladies Aid of the Christian church will hold a food sale at the Fowler Meat Market, Saturday. Proceeds will be used for repairs on the church.

The young people of the Christian church went to the gravel pit, Tuesday evening and there a wienie roast was enjoyed. After the roast a hike to the summit house was taken. The moon being full made the night an ideal one for the trip.

School Bonds Sold

The $25,000.00 school bonds, recently voted, were offered for sale, Tuesday, and some fourteen prospective purchasers were in attendance. The bidding was quite spirited and the bonds were sold at a handsome premium. The sale, of course, is subject to the approval and confirmation of the buyers attorneys, but there is no doubt but what everything will be satisfactory.

The ready sale and the high premium offered, reflect credit to Burbank's financial standing in the commercial world and is also a good indication of the relaxation of the money stringency. When the sale is finally confirmed we will give further particulars.

Burbank Base Ball Boys

The Burbank Base Ball Association has been reorganized and the first game is scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Let everybody turn out and encourage the boys by their presence. The Burbank Base Ball team has always stood right near the head of the list and this year's club is exceptionally strong. The business men have contributed liberally and good games are assured. A good ball team is a valuable advertisement for a town and the boys deserve the support of every progressive citizen.

LITTLE LANDS AND SUNLAND

The Monte Vista Valley band held a box social and concert at the hospitable home of Leo Lang, on the Blanchard Canyon road, Saturday evening. The boxes sold for more than $20. Capt. George C. Buck acted as auctioneer, and as usual put his audience in a generous humor. The concert was greatly enjoyed and everyone present expressed satisfaction at the improvement which the band is making. A good band is a good advertisement for any community and the local boys deserve all the support the Valley can give them.

Richard Frost returned Monday night of this week from Loma Linda, Cal., where he had been visiting at the home of Dr. S. P. S. Edwards.

Work on the new residence of Capt. H. Hatch of Monte Vista Blvd., was begun on Wednesday morning of this week by Contractor C. Van Battum. Capt. Hatch's residence will be constructed entirely of redwood and is so planned that an addition may be added later should necessity demand. Mr. Van Battum recently completed a handsome residence for Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Martin of Sunland.

A meeting was held by the stockholders of the Western Empire Suburban Farms Association at the club house on Monday evening of this week. The chief topic discussed at the meeting, was on the subject of the best method to pursue in financing necessary new work on the local water system. Many plans were discussed but no final action was taken.

The past week has been a busy one for the A. H. Martin family. On Monday of this week Mrs. Martin went to Los Angeles to attend to leasing a residence she owns there, while on Tuesday Mr. Martin and son, Vernon, had to oversee some work done on lots owned by Mr. Martin in Glassel Park.

It is reported that the Pacific Electric has leased the large gravel pit at the mouth of the Big Tejunga, directly north of Sunland. It is assumed that the company will abandon the gravel pit near San Gabriel and secure gravel for the entire system in this valley. If such is the case it will mean car service from Sunland and Little Lands to the city as a line will have to be built to the gravel pit to afford prompt distribution of the gravel.

Five New Houses for Sunland

George Livingston, who resides on Hill street, recently sold two acres on Hill street and Walnut drive to Mr. Arndt of Los Angeles. Mr. Arndt contemplates building himself a fine home and four other cottages which wil be modern in every particular will without doubt be quickly rented to city people who have heard of the many advantages of living in this valley.

The first fire of the season occurred last Saturday. The fire was caused by a bon-fire on the Lyon's place getting beyond control in the early afternoon, and burned over an area of more than 60 acres on neighboring hills. The mountain brush was as dry as tinder and it was with considerable difficulty that the fire was extinguished at about 11 p. m. Local fire fighters worked like Trojans from 5 o'clock until ten p. m., and the only serious damage occasioned by the blaze was the burning of the gate house of the Hanson Water system, which Leslie Percy and David Corey tried hard to save. Many who were not engaged in fighting the flames were interested spectators of the event and some of the boys had the presence of mind to procure their rifles and shot rabbits which were scared from the underbrush by the fire.

The chief mercantile establishment of Sunland is conducted by W. H. Nance who is proprietor of an up-to-date grocery and market. Mr. Nance has been engaged in business in this locality for the past six years and through his method of fair dealing has worked up a large patronage. A delivery route throughout the Valley is of great service to the patrons of this store.

The Ladies Aid society of Sunland will hold a stocking social on Tuesday evening, August 31. A miniature hose has been sent to scores in the community which is to be returned containing as many pennies as the number of the size hose worn by the person returning the stocking. No other charge will be made at the social. Good entertainment will be provided as will refreshments.

On Thursday evening of last week and on Thursday evening of this week occurred the regular dancing party of the Colonial Dancing and Social Club at the Littlelands clubhouse. The last two dancing parties are especially noteworthy on account of the exceptionally large attendance which was no doubt occassioned by many of our citizens returning from their vacations and by the increasing popularity of the club. The Colonial Dancing and Social club of which Mrs. Ensign Woodruff of Central avenue, is director was organized a year ago last January, and its weekly parties have become the social event of the colony. The club was organized for the purpose of furnishing social diversion and to bring to the front again the Colonial style of dancing, which includes many beautiful dances, which are becoming popular in other parts of the country in keeping with the vogue of Colonial styles, which will soon dominate the world of fashion. To Mrs. Woodruff belongs the credit of this valley becoming one of the first, if not the first center for teaching of stately and picturesque older dances such as: Plain Quadrilles, Lanciers, Modified Minuet, and such suitable Round Dances such as the new Versouviana, the Ostend and others. The Colonial Dancing and Social club has a membership of over seventy-five and has been a wonderful success in furnishing a goodly portion of the local residents with a clean, wholesome amusement. The modern ragtime dances are absolutely tabooed, and although the young people of the community are cordially invited to attend the club's dances, the rules of the club must be strictly adhered to. Delightful music is furnished by the Maygrove orchestra, which is composed of Mr. Maygrove, wife and three daughters. Throughout the summer months fruit punch is served to the dancers, and the regular hours for the dancing is from 8 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. on Thursday evening of each week. So well known has Littlelands become for its excellent dancers and the skill with which Mrs. Woodruff directs the dancing, that each week brings a goodly number of outside visitors from the city of Los Angeles and nearby towns to view the weekly dancing parties.

A. D. Kirshman, Captain George C. Buck, Rev. Weinman and John Steen left early Wednesday morning for Long Beach, where they spent the day fishing. It is needless to say that the above experienced fishermen came home with a large catch.

Mrs. Dewey of Monte Vista Blvd. has moved to Los Angeles for the winter.

School will open September 7. Miss Helen Ball of Los Angeles has been engaged as principal and Miss Jackson of Glendale as assistant principal. Miss Ball and her mother will lease a house in Little Lands during the school year and Miss Jackson will make her home at the Monte Vista Tavern.

Mrs. E. L. Paul and Miss Vernie Paul, who have made the former's son, W. G. Paul of Stephen's Way, an extended visit, left Monday for their home at Harlan, Iowa. They will make their journey to the Middle West a most liesurely one as they will make a number of stopovers—which include a visit at the San Francisco exposition and Yellowstone Park.

The children hereabouts think that E. F. Lancaster's ranch the most popular place in the Valley for the reason that he has allowed the little folks to use his large reservoir as a swimming tank. Tuesday and Saturady afternoons are reserved for the little girls and the boys take possession of the swimming pool the rest of the time. That no accident may befall the younger children, the youthful swimmers are carefully watched by some member of the Lancaster family.

LA CRSCENTA

Mrs. J. Leenhouts is expecting Mrs. Dr. Van Cammon and daughter, Eugenia, and son, Mr. I. Van Cammon, a United States revenue officer, all from Grand Rapids, Mich., as visitors this week. They are old friends of Mrs. Leenhouts and have been visiting the San Francisco exposition and the Yosemite valley.

A. C. Cobb is making extensive improvements on his place on New York avenue. A fine swimming pool is nearly completed and men are working at the balance of his ten acres, clearing it of brush. Mr. Cobb also intends to have a croquet court laid out and a stable for the saddle horses built. This will soon be one of the show places of the valley.

The Haines are enjoying an exceptionally large fruit crop this year. They have more fruit than they can use and are selling a lot of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Scheuner had guests from Eagle Rock last Sunday. A delightful picnic dinner was served on a long rustic table under the beautiful live oaks that surround their picturesque ranch home.

It has been rumored that New York avenue will be graded from its present terminus, which is about a quarter of a mile above Michigan avenue, to the Mesnager vineyard at the foot of the mountains.

The mid-summer tree, which was held last Sunday at the church, was not as heavily laden with packages as it should have been. Because of so many forgetful minds and so many being away, the tree will be held over until next Sunday. A few of the many articles they wish to send to China are pins, needles, hair pins, safety pins, pictures, postcards, without scenery, colored beads, uncolored soap, easy music, games with no English writing on them, and all kinds of toys.

WASN'T FOREMAN AT ROME

The new foreman was a hustler. Nothing escaped his eagle eye, and whenever he saw a fellow workman suffering from a tired feeling he quickly woke him up.

So when he discovered a bricklayer snatching a quiet pipe behind a wheelbarrow, his wrath rose mightily.

"What do you think you're paid for? Get on with your job if you don't want to get fired pretty sharp."

"All right, boss," the warkman rejoined. "Keep your 'air on. Rome wasn't built in a day, you know."

"That may be," rejoined the hustler, "but I wasn't foreman of that job."—Kansas City Times.
